

Artificial skiing ground - Focusun Ice Machine

Snowmaking easily guarantees the quality of snow in a long period, and it is much more suitable for resistance from the source of heat and sublimation than nature snow.

It can provide enough snow by using snowmaking machine during the whole ski season. In the early ski season, skiing ground almost completely depends on snowmaking.

Focusun specializes in exploring snow maker and delivery system which are totally compliant with the situation of customer's local place. Besides, our professional construction experience will be very helpful to offer different flake ice making system to meet your requirements.

There is no doubt that Focusun is your best choice to fulfill your skiing ground project. Please feel free to contact us to get more design details about skiing ground, equipment and service information and our professional engineer will reply you in 2 working days.

In order to make our products better serve your actual needs, it is highly appreciated if you can offer the related information such as ground size, ratio of slope of skiing ground, snow thickness, indoor building or outside building, etc.